

To Whom it may Concern,

As a citizen and consumer of over the air broadcast digital television, I am horrified by efforts by the mobile industry to "steal" a large section of broadcast spectrum and "stuff" existing TV Channels into a narrower region, compromising picture quality and content diversity.

The free spectrum has been sacred since the inception of Radio. To sell it off to the highest bidder is one more example of shoehorning the American Public into the desires of the Profiteers who care only for money, not the actual needs of the people. The Mobile industry should find other solutions and, if anything, the OTA band should be EXPANDED to better serve free access.
